Inspire Catholics, Transform Church

Join us for our Fall Gathering Sexism in Politics and Church, a talk by Jamie Manson

JAMIE L. MANSON is a columnist and editor at the National Catholic Reporter. She received her M.Div. from Yale Divinity School, where she studied theology and sexual ethics. Jamie has received multiple awards for her challenging, courageous, 'spot-on' writing. Her activism on behalf of women in the church recently garnered her the Theresa Kane Award.

When: SAT, SEPT. 30, 2017, 1-4PM

Where: St. Patrick's Church

2707 Broadway, Seattle, WA 98102

Cost: $25, Early registration by 9/22

$30, Pay at the door

After the last election it was alarming to learn that the majority of Catholics and Evangelicals voted for Donald Trump, even though he had shown flagrant disregard for many Christian values. Jamie Manson will help us to understand that some of the beliefs that Catholics and Evangelical Christians share, specifically with regards to 'the nature of woman', has had a direct influence on how they vote. These beliefs limit the power that woman hold in society and the church.

Special attention will be paid to Pope Francis' own statements about women. Lastly, we will explore the crucial role of women's equality in the struggle for social justice globally, and how the church's continued sexism may be imperiling its own future.
